RAPID TRANSIT.
The citizen of New York City has time to reflect on the need and the advantage of Rapid Transit here as he is borne by a transit which is not rapid to his place of business every day. This slow trip is a reminder twice a day of what he wants.

It is good that the subject cannot very well slip from his memory. The community ought to take special interest in the promotion of this project. We have got it fairly started. Let us push it on promptly, without losing a moment in needless delay.
The commission cannot do more to win the confidence and gratitude of the citizens than by buckling right down to work and accomplishing energetically the arduous duties imposed upon them by the office which they hold.

GEORGE BARCROFT.
To-day America's greatest historian will be laid to rest after a life full of all that can make life noble and useful. GEORGE BAR-CROFT was the historian of the United States, and his loss is one hard to fully make up for. He lived to a ripe old age, and until almost the very last Mr. BAR-CROFT was blessed with excellent health.
His erect figure on horseback was a familiar sight in Washington and Newport.
The country will surround his passage to the grave with marks of National respect, while the regret for Mr. BARCROFT will be widely felt through the entire country.

The phenomenally severe cold which Europe is experiencing should make us feel as if we had been favored in our winter.
The snow and ice have interfered seriously with traffic, and such countries as Italy, Spain and the south of France are so cold that people have frozen to death in several instances. There must be some reason for such a very severe winter there, and if meteorologists could only discover what it is they would be doing a fine scientific thing.

To die laughing is a most unusual way in which to meet the grim old warrior, Death.
But it ought to be a consolation to the survivors that the friend or relative could have passed away while indulging in a laugh. It seems to argue a happy death. But to expire with a peal of laughter on one's lips is not something which can be had at a person's option, pleasant as it would be.

Husbands and wives will not bless Mrs.
HARRISON for turning them into dinner mats with each other. A body likes recommending with his dinner, and without commenting on the fact, the cold fact is that a man can enjoy one better if he takes in a woman who is not his wife. He can have his wife for dinner so often, you know. It is too much like dining at home.

Of course, cold weather is less out of place in winter than at any other time, but Americans have nearly always a right to complain of the weather. It has such a meaning of cooing down like a hawk or Summer-like mildness.

New York should be prominent at the World's Fair. She should have had it, but the fact of her losing it ought not to make the desire for a splendid showing by the Empire State a bit less eager. New York will be there.

TINY BABY MOLLY
Nell Nelson Tells of Her Most Interesting History.
Packed in Cotton and Put into an Incubator to Grow.

The Minute Moral of Humanity Thrives and Gets Stronger Every Day.

One of the inmates of the Nursery and Child's Hospital, and just now the most important individual in that very beneficial institution, is diminutive Miss Molly, who all unconsciously is making herself famous in medical history.
Molly came into the universe in August, and a few moments after that event her young mother died.

The tiny debutante only weighed thirty-three ounces, and in order to save her for subsequent triumphs it was decided to put her in the incubator and raise her, not by hand, but by heat.
This device, which is a modification of Prof. Tanier's invention, resembles a laundry tub more than anything else. It is a sloped box, about 8 feet long and 18 inches wide, standing 2 1/2 feet from the floor.

It is built of hard wood with double walls, between which the hot water circulates, being poured in through a valve placed at the front and drained off when cool by means of a faucet at the other end of the box.
While the main features are similar to that of an incubator, the object of the convert is to maintain an even degree of heat equal to the normal temperature of the body.

The water being supplied, a thermometer was hung in the side box and the bed made.
First a small linen sheet was put in for a lining; a little mattress covered the bottom of the convert, and when the thermometer registered 90 degrees little Miss Molly, enveloped in a sheet of absorbent cotton, was laid in her first bed.
Then the perforated cover with the glass trained nurse placed over the box and a trained nurse assigned to watch the case and render a minute report.

The animated doll protested by frown and scowl and tightly clinched fists that she did not approve of the new method.
After this mute and solemn declaration she resolved to be indifferent, and, turning off the tension, fastened her eyes a little tighter, set her chin like a trifle higher and took a nap two weeks long.
She slept so sound and breathed so softly that the watchful nurse was often very anxious and kept a handglass constantly within reach in order to make sure of her breathing.

When she awoke Miss Molly was given her first lesson in eating. One spoonful of milk made a square meal for her, and it had to be served from a medicine dropper.
At no time was the temperature of the air in the box allowed to fall below 90 degrees. As fast as the water cooled below the head it was drawn off and simultaneously a new supply admitted at the foot of the box.
Miss Molly was not disturbed for four months, and in all that time the sleepy, untidy little creature did not so much as have her face washed.

Think of this girl, and a block of you patchwork would have made a towel for the operation.
Christmas week Dr. Himrod made up her mind that the young lady had slept long enough, and the nurse was directed to get her up, sponge her off with diluted alcohol, put her in a high neck, long sleeve, demonstrator toilet of cotton batting and give her a chance to meet Santa Claus and see the Christmas tree.

Everything was done as directed, but she did not show a particle of interest in any of the festivities, and when a little convalescing girl came to her cot to make a call and show her the doll she got in her stocking, Miss Molly crimped her little nose, shut her eyes and positively refused to have anything to do with her new friend.
Yesterday this pert, small maiden was seen at her bath. She has red hair, brownish blue eyes, a head much too heavy for her slender neck to support, a nose that is decidedly retroussé, a firm little mouth and a pair of nervous hands no bigger than the claws of a canary.

Her legs are about as large around as a broomstick, and the dimensions of a five-cent stick of licorice would compare very favorably with her arms.
This midlet weighs 4 pounds and 3 ounces, and you can imagine something about her hip, and shoulder with when I tell you that the nurse held her on her outstretched arm between her hand and elbow joint.
Three pints of warm water and alcohol gave her a plunge bath, after which she was wrapped in cotton, dressed in flannel blankets and woolen stockings and put to bed in her cot. The pair of infant's socks when pulled on covered Miss Molly as completely as though intended for tight.
Dr. Margaret C. Himrod is most gratified at the progress of her patient, and is of the firm opinion that she will be as big and well as any child of her age when the Springtime comes again. The case is being carefully and diligently studied by members of the profession, and the diminutive red head is better known to the friends and patrons of the Nursery than any of the 700 patients.
Miss Molly is not a charity guest, but an independent, self-sustaining, highly respectable resident. Her father is a laborer and pays $10 a month for her board, although a canary bird is ravenous for his medicine if she has no wardrobe as yet, but frocks, gowns, robes, wraps and lingerie will be forthcoming just as soon as she is big enough and strong enough to be measured.
Just at present she gets her outfit from bundles of cotton, but as she sleeps twenty two hours out of the twenty-four, and is persistently not at home to callers, the fluctuations of fashion are immaterial to her.

NELL NELSON.
THE CLEANER.
Driven by necessity into a little barber shop on West Forty-fourth street the other night, and feeling in a particularly belittled mood, I determined, as I dropped into the chair, to attempt any attempt on the part of the barber to talk me to death. I accordingly told him that it was a very warm day, that I didn't know or care whether the place would be convinced on their new trial, that any one but a fool could see that New York needed rapid transit and needed it quick, that I was in favor of smoking cars on "L" trains and that I didn't want a hair cut or a shampoo, and all this in rapid succession. The barber, to my surprise, said never a word, but "kept on shaving." When I told him the price of the shave at the end of the torture he did not speak, but quietly motioned towards the boss barber, to whom I said: "What's the matter with that fellow?"
"Oh, nothing," was the reply, "he's just deaf and dumb."

I heard the other day a new Easter song by Louis R. Dressler which is a perfect gem in the way of New York music. The song is New York's musical composition, but he is rapidly winning an enviable reputation as a songwriter. He is also a fine organist and has charge of the music in one of the wealthiest of our uptown churches.

Those who know of the athletic powers of Dr. Chauncey Mitchell Dewey will not be at all surprised that he should be elected to the Manhattan Athletic Club as a recognition of his abilities in that direction. Dr.
Dewey has always been one of the most enthusiastic and generous supporters of athletic athletics, and he is in argument on the New York Central to get up baseball lines and football eleven, and develop high jumpers, sprinters and heavyweight pugilists, and promises them he will go down on the sidewalk and yell with them whenever they win a trophy. The New York Central President has already made an available record as a sprinter on some of his European trips.

I see that the Pennsylvania Railroad announce that its bridge across West street at the City Hall, which was ready for use in about a month. Why not the Erie and Jersey Central roads show a little of the public spirit and enterprise of their neighbors?
The thousands of passengers which they send across the ferries every day now have to wade through a hundred yards of black sludge some three inches deep before they can reach solid footing, and this experience twice a day is not calculated to improve the morale of the New Jersey contingent of our downtown business men.

The County Democracy is tired of assisting in the evolution of music tickets, Maurice J.
Power tells me, and the party will hereafter have a straight Democratic ticket in the field at every election. The ex-Judge says that the respect of the public can only be held by the adoption of such a straightforward course.

The death of ex-Alderman George Hall reminds of the self-sacrifice of one man. For three years that Hall was Assistant Clerk of the Fourth District Civil Court. The Justice Harbinger, did double duty, performing all the work which his assistant should have done that the sick man might draw a salary of $4,000 annually.

I hear that Percy Rockwell has opened a club-house in the Fourth Avenue. He is arguing that men should be joined by all of the Tammany Hall opponents of ex-Lieutenant John Helly in the district.

I notice that an exhibition of the recent painting of Mr. J. Alden West will be held next week at the Biennale galleries. It will be well worth attending as many of Mr. West's figures are worthy of careful study.

The secret of a good complexion is clean-erally. With correct beauty and grace and health are alike crushed.

Don't throw away old kid gloves. Cut off the hands and save the long suede arms of your solid, worn kid gloves. You can put the hands from such gloves on many uses.
Use them for polishing silver mirrors, cut-glass and jewels. New two of the long pieces into irregularly shaped bags for carrying the pieces of your silver toilet-set when travelling. It preserves the silver from scratching and tar-nishing. Out of old tan or gray gloves you can make charming bags for carrying your opera glasses. Cut the kid in the same pattern as is used for the silk and velvet bags, line it with China silk, and trace in pen and in water colors, or silk, your initials on the outside.

The child should not be given solid food until it is able to hold its head up, and should advise liquid food during the period of denitation.
Here are some of the articles that may be found on the dress-table, and are considered necessary for the care of the hair, the cleanser, the sealer, the scraper, the polisher, powder-box and corn-knife. These goods are mounted in ivory, bone, shell or silver, plain or elaborately decorated. Then there are trays in variety, while the make-up sets are made of leather, ivory, pearl, Derby or sterling silver cases are completely furnished, and include from four to twenty-two pieces, and sell at from $5 to $25 a set.
Clasps for fasteners in sterling and gold vary from $2 to $50, suspender buckles range from $10 to $15 for silver and from $3 to $15 in a pair in gold.
